crowd was present to witness the unloading from a car of the bad horse from Wellington shipped here via the Rock Island railroad, to be trained by Prof. Gleason. The horse was loose in a car Although the professor's men are experienced in such matters they were nearly two hours in getting the rope and halter on the horse.

The horse is undoubtedly rightly named "The Demon," although he is a magnificent looking animal, for he several times gave evidence of having anything but

After getting sufficient ropes and a halter on the horse he was taken to the Palace livery barn and enclosed in a strong box stall, where he will remain until the professor's men take him to the exhibition grounds to be tamed. Whether or not Prof. Gleason will be successful remains to be seen as this horse is an entirely different proposition from those all have seen him handle,

It was announced in yesterday's paper that this horse would be handled last night, but owing to the rain late in the afternoon the exhibition grounds were not in a condition to allow a perform since to be given as there was too much water standing. However, everything will be in readiness tonight for the taming of Mr. Burford's horse, "The De-

The professor stated that he would ence the exhibition tonight with this horse as the first on the evening's program as he did not care to tackle such a bad horse after he was tired out from the handling of other horses every one who wishes to see this horse tamed must come early.
